

TV/Commercial Actress Mae Ross Opens 3-2-1 Talent Showcase Studios To Develop Young Talent For A Career In TV And Film

Free, Introductory Class Offered Now to Kids & Teens in the San Fernando Valley/ Glendale/ Pasadena Area

Successful TV and Commercial actress Mae Ross, a 16-year Talent

Showcase veteran, today announced the launch of 3-2-1 Talent Showcase Studios located at The Vibe, 2287 Honolulu Avenue in Montrose (North Glendale). Opened January 26th, 2008, 3-2-1 Talent Showcase Studios trains youth for On-Camera TV and film acting roles and prepares them for performances before top Hollywood talent agents. Mae's students range in age from five to twenty years and are children, teens and young adults, who have a desire to pursue a hobby or a career in TV and film.

To celebrate her Studios' opening, Mae is providing a special introductory class at 3-2-1 Talent Showcase for youth ages 5 - 20, who would like to explore a career in Show Biz. No previous training is necessary.

A local resident, living in Tujunga, CA. for the past 15 years, Ms. Ross is an accomplished actress who has appeared in more than thirty TV commercials; in several TV series through the years and performed in Las Vegas and Broadway musical theater productions. She is a former fashion runway model, whose image has appeared in national print ads and TV commercials for top brands, such as: Pizza Hut, Coca-Cola, Herbalife, JC Penney, Marshalls Department Store, and Grape Nuts cereal.

As a result of her varied and colorful work in all these industries, Mae's classes offer students insight and training to rise above the competition and to break into this challenging industry.

In addition to her successful acting career, Mae has been producing Talent Showcases, here in Los Angeles, for the last sixteen years. Through these Talent Showcases, many of her students have gone on to successful careers in TV and film after being introduced by Mae to top, Hollywood talent agents.

Most notably, Vincent Vaillancourt, who starred as 'Trent,' on TV's "Hannah Montana; Kevin Kleinberg, who played "The Green Power Ranger;" La Crescenta's Alisha Ziegler, whose credits include ABC's "Wildfire," "CSI New York," and the Haylie Duff film "Legacy;" and James Molina of Glendale, who appeared in the film "Alpha Dogs" with Justin Timberlake, TV's "Veronica Mars," and recently on "CSI Miami." These are just a few of the many success stories of students who have benefitted from Mae's training and Talent Showcases.

"What I look for in potential students is a warmth and likeability," says Mae. "Most of these kids have a natural ability in the performing arts, although when they come to me, many need to be developed further. At 3-2-1 Talent Showcase Studios, I take them through ten and sixteen week courses, meeting once or twice a week, and teach them everything they need to know related to On-Camera TV and Film Acting."

She adds, "I love working with youth; my biggest reward is seeing their confidence grow and helping them to achieve their fullest potential. In addition to getting them started in Show Business, what they learn here are life skills that will help them to be more successful in any walk of life."

Born in San Francisco, Mae developed her career in Hollywood. She lives in Tujunga, CA with her husband, Tom, and her 13-year old son, T.J., who completed Mountain View Elementary in Tujunga and is now enrolled at Frost Magnet Middle School in Granada Hills. Her pride and joy, Mae's son is a pitcher and catcher in the Babe Ruth Baseball League and also plays on two, tournament travel teams: the Glendale Knights and the La Crescenta Bobcats.
